The tide-table given below has been obtained by aid of the Tidepredicting Machine, which includes 40 components for the better prediction of tides, from the result of the analysis of the tidal observations, taken at the Kaulung tidal observatory under the direction of Dr. Doberck during the years 1887, 1888, & 1889.

The times and heights are given for Kaulung; but they may be used for the Victoria Naval yard and Aberdeen, the differences being very small.

The times of high-and lowwater must not be considered to coincide with the times of slackwater and change of current, the two phenomena being quite

The essence of good criticism is an individual opinion. An individual opinion is the result of intelligence and experience of life. But different people may have had different experiences of

I occasionally think my fellow critics on the "Times," the "Morn-ing Post," the "Manchester Guardian," the "Daily News" are cracked about some particular point, and they in turn are at liberty to (and probably do) think me cracked about other particu-lar points, possibly many points. But I nevertheless think that five critics of such papers represent among them a fair level of general intelligence about the theatre, and that the chances of all five of us being cracked together about the same point are remote.

A History.

The history of the banned play "Young Woodley" is not uninstructive. From the point of view of the public, the facts are these: The play, being under the Censor's ban, was produced recently by a private society. Halfway through the week the censor very sensibly withdrew his ban, and the play may now go forward uninterrupted: Long live the Censor!

I submit there are further facts and which run as follows: The play had been read by the Censor three times in eighteen months before it was produced, and each time he had said he could do nothing about it. It had had, it can be understood, his full considera-

It was produced, with the same 'delicate acting" which the Censor now says he admires, and he, being present on the Sunday, still gave no hint of his willingness to do anything about it. the meantime, the critics had, with a decision and a unanimity that is rare in journalism, stated that the barring of such play was an insult to the public of London, and that if the Censor could not see his way to withdrawing his ban, it was high time, and more than high time,

Sincerity of the Play."

I may say in passing that the Entries will close on TUESDAY, popular conception of the critics "foregathering in the foyer" to launch these opinions concertedly is a myth. For one thing, the foyer is too crowded. For another, many critics stay in their seats. Again, certainly more than one or two critics make it a definite rule never to discuss a play before they have written about it. How independent criticism is as a rule may be seen by the flatly contradictory notices that on certain occasions have been known to appear.

I return to my argument about' the Censor. Four days after he had seen the play, and two days after the storm had broken, the Censor, moved by "the sincerity of the play and the delicate way the theme had been treated," to quote the words which Mr. Basil Pierce Grove, Alexandra Buildings. Dean says were spoken to him,

The Censor has now said in ling 6.00 p.m. Return Fare 1st effect: "I read the play three times. My own mind thought it FREE PARKING FOR MOTOR a nasty play. It needed the kind assistance of a company of actors

GROWING KOWLOON.

The signs are many that the Kowloon Peninsula is in a state of gradual development, and before long the question of a tunnel across the harbour is one which is likely to compel more than casual attention because of this development. The Peninsula · Hotel, which is in course of furnishing will, when ready for occupation, give a fillip to Kowloon's growth, particularly so when it is remembered that the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank proto conduct a branch the ground floor of the building. This factor alone will work mightily in the cause of the Peninsula's prosperity, seeing that many of the big passenger liners berth at the Kowloon wharves and that the godowns are already there. We may experience in Kowloon before long, in this regard, such commercial and domestic liveliness as took place in Hongkew after the Hong Kong Bank decided to open branch in that district. Business people and residents of a widely scattered and thickly populous saved the time and trouble of crossing Garden Bridge and coming practically to the other end of the Bund in order. to perform their banking activities, and Hongkew and the eastern districts of Shanghai, such as Wayside and Yangtszepoo, in which are centred most of

"OVERLAND CHINA MAIL"

CHINA NEWS, LOCAL NEWS AND ALL THE NEWS SEND IT HOME!

Several events this week are bound to increase the demand for the "Overland China Mail." Many copies are likely, to be sent away, to give the obituary notices of Mr. R. G. McEwen, Mr. Bertram Giles and Mr. W. G. Gerrard. Then, again, there have been a few more company meetings, reports of which business men are prone to forward to connections.

To ensure getting supplies, order at once.

Particular interest has been displayed at Home this week on events in China. Discussion anent the tariff question, the conversations anent the 1927 Nanking incident, the possibility of peace or war between North and South, the visit of Marshal Li Chai.sum, Hong Kong's good friend, to Nanking-these are all topics on which full information will be sought by friends at Home.

All the week's news, to which must be added sound comment, comprehensive explanations and special articles will be found, as usual, in the "Overland China Mail."

WHEN YOU GO ON LEAVE.

Hong Kong's spring exodus has begun. Are you going Home on leave this year? If you are, you will be surprised by the number of persons who will ask you about China and Hong Kong. You will be astonished at the number and type of silly questions put to you in all good faith. And you will have to admit reluctantly (if only to yourself) that you are not quite certain. Will you be believed, though? Keep in touch with Hong Kong and China by having the "Overland China Mail" sent to you for a stipulated period.

By spending a little time while you are on holiday, you can keep yourself well informed if you have the "Overland." The articles which you will seek are written to help non-Chinese to understand. In any case, you will not regret, from your own point of view, being posted with the main developments (reported in brief) while you are away.

VIEWS OF A MINING EXPERT.

"SHOT-FIRING."

There are two possible causes The Lincolnshire Handicap (one of colliery explosions-the premile, at Lincoln), the first impor-sence of an inflammable mixture of firedamp and air, or of a very fine coal dust raised as a cloud in ! the air. Either of these can be ignited by a flame for a spark. Firedamp is the gas given off by the coal and its surrounding strata.

. A spark or flame sufficient to ignite an inflammable mixture of gas and air, or of coal dust and air may arise from (a) naked lights; (b) flame from explosives; .(c) fires in mines (e.g., from spontaneous heating of the waste material packed into the scam after the coal is worked out); (d) electricity.

Chrysler's sensational rise from 27th to 3rd place in sales in 42 months is the result of a phenomenal public preference that has continuously demanded a record-breaking volume of quality motor cars.

Chrysler's tremendous production and rapid growth are the direct results of public recognition of values and savings which only Chrysler Standardised Quality can provide.

You will then instantly recognise why Chrysler cars—by the most astounding price savings which result from a huge and rapidly growing public demand-are today more than ever the most marvelous motor car values in their respective price classes.

FOUR YEARS' GROWTH.

Continuing the unprecedented growth that has brought its name to the fore-front among all motor car manufacturers. Chrysler third in volume in the sales Chamber of Commerce for 1928.

In its progress toward the top of the entire automotive industry, Chrysler has advanced with speed never before equalled by any other motor car company. Starting at the 1924 New York Show in twenty-seventh place, the company advanced successively to eighteenth in 1925, ninth for 1926, fourth for 1927 and to third for 1928. Its dollar sales volume during those years has grown from G$50,000,000.00' during the calensales were more than six times those for 1924, when it made the greatest first year record in history of the industry.

In the 42 months from January 1 1924, to July 1, 1927, when Chrysler attained third place, the public bought the impressive total more than G$850,000,000.00 worth of Chrysler products. It is lieved that this smashes all previ ous records for any business organisation of any kind in the world

"No other make of car has ever recorded anywhere near such phenomenally rapid progress," said J. E. Fields, vice-president in charge of Chrysler sales, in commenting on the announcement. "It s a most impressive endorsement by the 'public' of the principles which the Chrysler organization founded and has consistently fostered. Nothing even comparable with it has even occurred in the history of the automobile industry Only two other makers . of cars each far longer in the automobile field, still remain above Chrysler in the N.A.C.C.'s records."

Chrysler's rise another notch this year recalls a statement issued a year ago in similar circumstances. It read:-

"It is the determination of will earnestly try to deserve in tion I placed upon that word. public esteem:"

Chrysler wings, first of the ornamental radiator, caps now generally used, are faithful reproductions from museum examples of the head dress worn by ancient Vikings. These hardy Norse adventurers fastened wings of wild birds their helmets as symbols of endurance and speed. #### Exceptional.

Summing up the automobile industry's 1927 progress, one of the foremost writers on motoring subjects said in a recent article: is noteworthy that Chrysler was one of the few companies that experienced a demand exceeding its production last year and probably found its demand exceeding its production more often than any other company during 1927."

All roads lead to the surf. So we find when the car joins the stream of traffic northward bound for the wonderful beaches that fringe the coast from Manly to groken Bay. At last parking space is found in the ranks cars that crowd the ocean parade of one of the further resorts. The crowd is in holiday mood, and there is pleasure in watching the living, colourful pageant before

A murmur in the crowd, and we turn to see an outward surf-boa planing down a rushing green hill of water, the spray flying from its bow. A towering statuesque figure in the stern dips and strains on the great rudder-oar; the craft turns, rides head-on through a ride. tossing, a dazzling white shape, on the blue water further out. As it surges from trough to crest there is a glimpse of four bronzed Argonauts straining at the sculls, while the sunlight glances on the white helmet of the young Jason in the prow and the flashing sweep of oars. These are the mer our beaches breed-Vikings of peace whose mission is to save.

Surf Heroes. Out beyond the breakers is youngster lying full length on a huge surf-board, which he paddles slowly with his arms, heaving lazily on the swell. He crouches watching a following, wave, and next instant is erect, with legs apart and arms outstretched-a picture of Neptune's charioteer driving his racing team from shield-shaped car.

Aloft in the watch tower is 'Ossie," the team captain, yarning with a group of idolising youngsters. With arms clasping sloping beach with all the grace they are simply a straining after of the marching stride he has smartness, may be just as irritatsunburnt legs they learn how their hero' and his mates showed the South Africans the noble art of surfing at Durban. For among the senior clubmen of the coast are hundreds of A.I.F. mengreat-limbed, massive fellows in their prime, who not long ago put the fear of death into the Prussian Guards. And the younger men, still with the grace of the schoolboy athlete, are sons and brothers of Anzacs. Lithe and slender of limb, theirs, are the depth of chest and breadth of shoulder that come of battling with a stubbern surf from child-

Beware of that tall billow with the concave face! Its crest will curl and crash vertically, seizing the foolhardy surfer, to roll him unmercifully head over heels, dragged spread-eagled hither and thither by a dozen seething crosscurrents. Such is the "dumper," foe of the unwary. But mark how the cognoscenti deal with this monster. Retire to where they spindrift flying from their crests. Now, break the charge of Neptune's cavalry; turn side-on their onslaught; lunge and spring for their manes, every muscle braced for the shock. Or, again, dive for the bottom, feel them Metal Merchants and Shir crash on your feet as they thunder over with a noise like distant cannon. Then spring for air with
